

The Trag' die

I can no longer hold me patient.
Hear me you wrangling pirates that fall out,
I shaking out that which you haue pild from me:
Which of you trembles not that looke on me?
If not, that I being Queene, you bow like subiects,
Yet that by you di' posd, you quake like rebels:
O gentile villaine, doe not turne away.

Glo. Foule wrinkled, witch, what makst thou in my sight?
Qu. Ma. But repetition of what thou hast mard,
That will I make, before I let thee goe:
A husband and a sonne thou owest vnto me,
And thou aking dome, all of you allegiance:
The sorrow that I haue by right is yours,
And all the pleasure you vsurpe, is mine.

Glo. The curse my noble father layd one thee,
When thou didst crowne his warlike browes with paper,
And with thy scorne drewist riuers from his eyes,
And then to drie them, gau' st the duke a clout
Steept in the blood of pritty Rutland:
His curses then from bitternesse of soule,
Denoune'd against thee, are fallen vpon thee,
nd God, not we, hath plagude thy bloodie deed.

Qu. So iust is God to right the innocent.
Haſt. O twas the foulest deed to slay that babe, nd the most merciless that ever was heard of.

Ri. Tyrants them selues wept when it was reported,
Dorf. No man but prophesied reuenge for it.

Buc Northumberland then present, wept to see it.

Qu. Ma. What? were you snarling all before I came,
ady to each other by the throat,
Id turne you now your hatred now one me?
Id Yorke's dread curse preuaile somuch with heauen,
at Henries death my louchy Edwards death,
leir kingdomes lost my woesfull banishment,
Id all but answere for that peeuiish brat?
In curses pearce the clouds, and enter heaven;
hy then glie way dull clouds to my quicke curses:
not by warre, by surset die your King.
ours by murder to make him a King.

Edward

of Richard the Third.

Edward my sonne, which now is prince of Wales,
For Edward my son, which was a Prince of Wales,
Die in his youth by like vntimely violence,
Thy selfe a Queene, for me that was a Queene,
Outlive thy glory, like my wretched selfe:
Long maist thou liue to waile thy childrens losse,
And see another, as I see thee now
Deckt in thy glory, as thou art stald in mine:
Long die thy happy dayes before thy death,
And after many lengthened houres of griefe,
Die neither mother, wife, nor Englands Queene,
Riuers and Dorſet, you were standers by,
And so was thou Lord Hastings, when my soone
Was slayd with bloody daggers, God I pray him,
That none of you may liue your naturall age,
But by some vnlookt accident cut off.

Glo. Haue done thy charme thou hatefull withered hag.

Qu. Ma. And leue out thee? stay dog, for thou shalt haue
If heauen haue any greeuous plague in store,
Exceeding those that I can wish vpon thee:
O let them keepe it till thy sinnes be ripe,
And then hurle downe their indignation
On thee the troubler of the poore worlds peace:
The worne of conscience still begnaw thy soule,
Thy friends suspect for traytors whilst thou liuest,
And take deepe traytors for thy dearest friends,
No sleepe close vp the deadly eyes of thine,
Vnlesse it be whilst some tormenting dreame
Affrights thee, with a hell of vgly diuels,
Thou eluishi markt, abortiue rooting hog,
Thou that wast seald in thy nativitie
The slau of nature, and the sonne of hell,
Thou flaunder of thy mothers heauy womb,
Thou loathed issue of thy fathers loynes,
Thou rag of honour, thou detested, &c.

Glo. Margaret.

Qu. Ma. Richard.

Qu. Ma. I call the not.

Glo. Ha.

Glo. Then I cry thee mercy: for I had thought
